

I have been waiting for about six months to share this story. It's been a long time in the making, but it's been so worth waiting for. God is so awesome. Infiniti Matrix stem cells are so awesome.

I wanted to add this brief verbiage with the videos so the timeline is clearer. I plan to redo the video in a few months when his vocal cords heal. Please take a minute to read and then enjoy the videos. Yes, there are two. My phone alarm went off and stopped the video and we had to restart.

Here it is:

His story is one I have wanted to tell for months, but out of respect for our friendship and his privacy, I withheld it until now. Now, with his, and his wife's permission, I am free to share his amazing story.

This testimonial is beyond my wildest imagination, and every bit of credit must be given to God Himself.

Roughly two years ago, a dear friend of mine called me about his knee and he wanted stem cells. I did a private presentation for him and his wife at their office. They received Infiniti Matrix.

About six or so months later, I ran into them at a restaurant and asked how his knee was doing, it was still hurting. I was shocked. He should have had some relief by now. I told him something else must be going on in his body that needed those cells more than his knee did. He elected to do another round of cells.

About nine months later he called while I was in Missouri working, reporting once again that his knee was still hurting, and he was going to have to do something as he had just canceled an international business trip because he could hardly walk. Once again, I stressed to him that every fiber in my being believed there was something else going on his body - but I had no clue what it might be. That was the first part of this past November - six months ago. [November 2022]

A month later I'm back in town and I overhear the mayor talking with some friends at the next table, about my friend having been found on a ranch after having a massive heart attack. My heart sunk. I interrupted the mayor and got more details. Over the next two weeks, I was texting daily with a mutual friend who was getting reports on his condition and sharing with me.

He was found on a ranch not breathing by his youngest son. The medical team, later at the hospital, would estimate that he was not breathing for a minimum of 10 minutes or more. They threw him in the back of a pickup and his son did chest compressions on him all the way to town. He was foaming at the mouth. When they arrived at the hospital, he was DOA - dead on arrival.

The hospital staff took over the chest compressions, slit his chest open and began massaging his heart, taking him immediately into surgery where they would put stents in and he would crash on the table. Three times now he died. Machines were breathing for him and pumping his heart.

I believe it was about a week of daily bad reports, with the best report being he only had less than a 10% survival rate, and that only about 10% of his brain - at best - might be working. His prognosis was poor to extremely dismal. His life would never be the same.

His wife prayed and received the Word of the Lord that he would live based on the Scripture about honoring your parents and you will receive long life. He qualified for long life because he took such good care of his parents. She stormed into his ICU room and declared it and would not allow anything but scripture and God's promises to be spoken in that room. Any, and all, medical reports would have to be given to the family outside of his room. She guarded his room and filled it only with God's Word.

In my own prayer for my friend, the Lord told me he would live. God said He had caused my friend to be so focused on the pain in his knee that he would naturally load up on Infiniti Matrix stem cells to relieve the pain, but God wanted them to be in place and ready to go, knowing this traumatic event was going to happen to him.

It was hard to hold onto that word as the daily bad reports poured in - but yet, there was a peace too.

After about a week, the medical team came in and told his wife that they needed to pull the plug as they no longer could find any signs of life. She asked them to give her 48 hours, as she needed to pray and seek God first.

I believe it was the following day one of the medical staff noticed his eyes seemed to follow them in the room - then he responded to light - and suddenly everything began to change. Long story short - in the process of time, they pulled his heart pump a few days later, and his heart was working. After several more days, they pulled the ventilator, and he could breathe on his own. Then they awaited to see if he would awaken and know anyone. He did.

While we were in Frisco in January at the Wellness Celebration for Infiniti Matrix stem cells, I received a call from his wife to ask about the stem cells he had received. His heart doctor was crediting him coming back to life to the fact he had received these stem cells, as he had no other explanation how this could have happened. Thank goodness, his wife sought the Lord before agreeing to pull the plug.

After two months in the hospital and rehab, he was home in February. He is doing extremely well. He has dropped 100 pounds, looks great. He has a little vocal cord damage from the tubes which has hampered his voice, and his short-term memory is not 100% yet, but they are fully expecting it to return.

Here's the amazing thing I just learned a few days ago. He has just seen his heart surgeon who did some type of test on him to see how his heart was doing. The doctor was totally amazed at how his heart had regenerated, so much so, that he left the room and pulled another heart doctor or medical personnel in to look at the heart as well. Wow!

He truly is a living, breathing, miracle of God and Infiniti Matrix stem cells.

God has given us 3-ways for healing: His Word, the power of prayer, and today we can add Infiniti Matrix – God’s medicine – to the mix as well. My friend needed all three. What an awesome God we serve.

The lesson I have learned through this experience with my friend, if someone has not received the results they were hoping for, then those cells were needed somewhere else. Something else is going on in their body. Prayerfully, those cells take care of whatever the issue may be, and they may never know. This may be one of those times when another round of cells might be just what the Great Physician might have ordered.

We are so blessed to know about Infiniti Matrix and its amazing regeneration abilities. One by one – we must tell others.

One last thing – in contrast to this last story – we just returned late last night from the homegoing – life celebration – service of one of my referrers in the hill country. Awesome man. He will be sorely missed. A Vietnam veteran who made 44 jumps and lived in severe pain since the 1960’s. Praise God – the last six months of his life were pain free.

Infiniti Matrix stem cells are incredible! But – when God calls you home to be with Him – even Infiniti can’t keep you here. Praise God – when it’s time to go – it’s time to go! But we should leave here healthy and whole.
